

Jesus College, Cambridge Case Study

Platform: edX

Solution: Short Course Design

OBJECTIVES

Jesus College and Construct Education aimed to empower individuals by providing real-world solutions to confront sexual harassment and violence. The course prioritized safety and inclusivity, educating learners from diverse backgrounds on safeguarding measures.

OUR APPROACH

Construct Education collaborated closely with Dr. Sarah Steele's team to transform academic knowledge into an engaging online learning journey. Agile methodologies ensured timely delivery and allowed for rapid responses to evolving needs. The team prioritized engaging design, quality assurance, timely delivery, and agile adaptation throughout the development cycle.

OUTCOMES

The partnership resulted in a successful edX course launch within four months. The course transformed academic content into an interactive learning experience, adhering to stringent quality standards and meeting project deadlines with precision. The collaboration solidified a lasting partnership, paving the way for two additional online courses.

“Construct is the only trusted content development provider outside the University. We value our partnership with them because they really go the extra mile to understand our learning needs.”
